

Jennifer Lawrence

The Hunger Games star on fame, pratfalls and her new tradition with Dad

Like her courageous alter ego Katniss Everdeen in The Hunger Games: Catching Fire, Jennifer Lawrence has seen her celebrity skyrocket. At 23, the actress has already won an Oscar for Silver Linings Playbook and now is back in the role that made her a box-office champ. Here, the always charming star catches up with Hello! Canada.

Katniss now has a certain celebrity. Can you relate? In Catching Fire, Katniss returns to District 12 where she grew up. She still wants to be part of them but everyone treats her like a celebrity, and that's not necessarily what you want. I love acting and I don't know what else I'd be doing, but my life is different now. It's sad to see some things change that I wasn't ready to see change.

You had to wear a wedding dress in the new film. How did that go? If you remember from the Oscars, I'm not good with staircases and big dresses! I still fell a lot in it!

Are you saying you're a bit of a klutz? We were doing a water stunt where I had to dive in the water with all these jet streams around. One of them hit right into my ear and I was deaf for a few days.

On the plus side, you must be good with a bow and arrow! When I did the first Hunger Games, I brought an archery set to my family's farm. My dad and I have started a new tradition where he drinks beers and puts the cans on the fence, and then I knock them off with my new-found archery prowess.

Growing up in Kentucky, did you want to be an actress? I wanted to be a travel agent. But I loved telling stories and when dad moved his office into our home, I saw it as an opportunity to perform for hours. "Here Dad, now I'm going to make sure you don't get any work done while you watch my shows." [My desire to act] was there all along! Besides, I'm a Leo and I love attention – from the right people.

In December you'll be seen in American Hustle with Bradley Cooper. Was it fun reuniting with him? He's like a brother. Now, having now done three movies together, we don't have to get to know each other all over again. H

His mother is from Hamilton, Ont., and in 2010, the actor married Calgary realtor Kyla Weber, with whom he has two young children. "You're ready for your life to be about other people," says the former man about town, 43, of his life as a husband and father.
